Air Canada réduit encore son offre de service en Atlantique

le 8 décembre 2020

Le transporteur aérien Air Canada annonce la suspension de plusieurs vols dans les provinces de l'Atlantique en raison de la COVID-19.

Air Canada suspend indéfiniment tous ses vols aux aéroports de Saint-Jean au Nouveau-Brunswick et de Sydney au Cap-Breton.

Le transporteur annonce également qu'il réduit considérablement ses services à Fredericton, Halifax, Charlottetown et Deer Lake, jusqu'à nouvel ordre.

Ces changements entreront en vigueur le 11 janvier 2021, selon l'Association des aéroports du Canada atlantique.

Province announces supports for impacted workers and low-income Islanders

The Prince Edward Island Emergency Payment for Workers is a $500 payment is for workers and self-employed Islanders who have completely lost their income or had their hours reduced by at least 12 hours a week from December 7 to 21, 2020. The program will be open for applications by Thursday, December 10. Additionally, the province is relaunching the Employee Gift Card Program. These $100 grocery gift cards are for workers who have been laid off between December 7 and 21, 2020. The application form for the program is to be completed by the employer, who will then distribute the cards to affected employees. The program will be open for applications by Thursday, December 10.

Details for both programs will be available by midnight tonight at For Business.
