P.E.I. targets June 27 for opening to Atlantic Canadian travellers

The plan for reopening Prince Edward Island, called Moving Forward, outlined five steps.

- Step 1, June 6: Initial easing of P.E.I. public health measures.
- Step 2, June 27: Travel permitted from Atlantic Canada with no self-isolation for travellers with at least one dose of vaccine and shortened self-isolation for unvaccinated travellers.

- Step 3, July 18: Further easing of P.E.I. public health measures to allow for larger gatherings.
- Step 4, Aug. 8: Travel permitted from outside Atlantic Canada with no self-isolation for fully vaccinated travellers and shortened self-isolation for unvaccinated or partially vaccinated travellers (with pre-travel approval under existing travel streams for non-P.E.I. residents).
- Step 5, Sept. 12: Limited P.E.I. public health measures including no personal or organized gathering limits. No pre-travel approval for domestic travellers. Some isolation and testing measures for unvaccinated and partially vaccinated travellers.

The plan says the dates for these changes are estimates.
