Québec veut distribuer 10 millions de tests avant les Fêtes

Le gouvernement Legault a dans sa ligne de mire la distribution de tests de dépistage rapide - ou autotests - dans les foyers québécois avant la période des Fêtes. Québec espère mettre la main sur au moins 10 millions de tests rapides en provenance d'Ottawa. Pour l'instant, Québec utilise seulement les tests rapides dans les écoles et les entreprises.

Precautionary measures regarding Omicron variant; one new case of COVID-19

Chief Public Health Officer, Dr. Heather Morrison, has announced new precautionary and temporary measures in response to the Omicron variant of concern.

Effective Friday, December 3 at 8:00 am until early January the following measures will be in place:

- Anyone arriving in PEI from an international destination (including the United States) must be tested at the point of entry on arrival and again on day 4. The testing on day 4 is no longer recommended, it is required. Individuals who traveled internationally who do not get a day 4 test will be subject to enforcement measures, including fines.

- Any individuals who return from international travel will be unable to enter a long term care or community care facility in PEI until they have had three negative COVID-19 tests on days 0, 4 and 8. This applies to all staff, volunteers and visitors.
- Similar to Nova Scotia, children under the age of 12 years will be unable to travel interprovincially for the purpose of participating in sports tournaments or arts and culture events. PEI cannot host interprovincial tournaments and arts and culture events for children under 12 years of age. Provincial tournaments (within PEI) and arts and culture activities are permitted, as are provincial and interprovincial sports tournaments for those 12 years of age and older. PEI children under the age of 12 years can attend out of province tournaments and arts and culture events as spectators but they may not participate in those events.

These measures will be in place until early January and will be reevaluated at that time.
